

Madrid, September 15th 2015

GNANOMAT launches its own R&D department

As a step forward in the efforts and growth of the company, Gnanomat has definitively create its own R&D team. The novel company, founded on summer 2014, has developed so far its R&D program collaborating with first class providers in an outsourcing-based strategy. Now Gnanomat has reached one of their major objectives by creating the R&D department with its own scientific team. Iñigo Larraza PhD is the leader of this division is. Iñigo is a contrasted nanotech expert accumulating experience in both nanomaterials research and innovation management in academic and large companies. With this incorporation Gnanomat achieves a major milestone in the maturation of the company.

Gnanomat is a company of nanotechnology holding a revolutionary technology to manufacture high add value 2D nanomaterials. Gnanomat exclusive nanomaterials is not just a fine and green alternative to produce GNP pristine graphene, but other nanocomposites that provide new alternatives in different applications, in special in Energy accumulation devices.